Re: Standards of Conduct for Transmission Providers
Docket No. RM01-10-000

Dear Secretary Salas:

On December 20, 2001, the Illinois Commerce Commission ("ICC") filed comments in the Commission's rulemaking proceeding on the standards of conduct for transmission providers in the above-referenced docket. Therein, the ICC made six separate recommendations for the Commission's consideration. The ICC respectfully reiterates its previous request that each of these recommendations be taken into account by the Commission in its rulemaking process in this case.

We would note, however, that of particular concern to the ICC is the Commission's proposal to functionally separate the bundled retail sales function from the transmission function. The ICC described, in detail, at pages 3 through 13 of its December 20 Comments alternative workable methods to accomplish the pro-competitive intent underlying this Commission proposal while respecting proper state jurisdictional authorities. The ICC, respectfully brings those comments to the Commission's attention.
